PREFACE.

AFTER a considerable delay, and with no slight hesitation, I launch a further volume, on the serial principle, of my Bibliography, which now looks back so far as 1867, when the Handbook appeared. Much of that pioneer has since been superseded by later discoveries; but much yet retains its original value and authority. The present may be safely taken absolutely to represent my last essay in this direction. I cannot afford to spend any more money in printing my labours, and as I live in England, and not in Germany or Russia, it is useless to expect help from the Government even for a purpose of so national a character and compass. Mine is not a bare list of titles, but an account accompanied by literary notices, and in important cases quotations of prices. But the revolution in the book market of late years, owing to American competition, renders such particulars, as a rule, of doubtful utility. At the same time, the difficulty of obtaining certain classes of early literature may be treated as an argument in favour of what Charles Lamb, in a letter to Charles Ollier, terms "Books about Books."

I have the pleasure and the honour of acknowledging myself indebted for assistance in my researches in London, at Oxford and Cambridge, at Manchester, Salisbury, Exeter, Peterborough, York, Edinburgh, and elsewhere, to a considerable number of gentlemen, no less than to the leading members of the book trade and auctioneers. I hope that the subjoined list is not very incomplete or (as it were) ungrateful:—

London.

The Staff of the Printed Book Department, British Museum, particularly Mr. Fortescue, Mr. Miller, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Barwick, Mr. Proctor, Mr. Davenport, and Mr. Pollard.

Dr. Williams's Library, Gordon Square.

The Librarian at Sion College.

Mr. R. E. Graves (for Britwell).

His Grace the Duke of Devonshire.

Mr. J. E. T. Loveday. Dr. Furnivall.

The late Mr. Samuel Sandars. Mr. Bernard Quaritch. Mr. Wilfrid Voynich.

Messrs. J. Pearson & Co. Messrs. Pickering & Chatto.

Messrs. Maggs Bros.

Messrs. Sotheran & Co.

Messrs. Ellis & Elvey. Messrs. Bull & Auvache.

Mr. A. R. Smith.

Mr. Bertram Dobell. Messrs. Sotheby & Co.

Messrs. Sotheby & Co. Messrs. Christie & Co.

Messrs. Unristie & Co. Messrs. Hodgson & Co.

Messrs. Puttick & Simpson.

Oxford.

Bodley's Librarian (Mr. Nicholson). Mr. F. Madan (Sub-Librarian).

Mr. C. R. Beazley, F.R.G.S. (Merton College).

Mr. W. H. Stevenson (Exeter College).

Rev. C. H. Daniel (Worcester College).

Mr. G. Holden (All Souls).

Dr. Bellamy and the Rev. C. F. Burney (St. John's).

Mr. C. H. Thompson (Queen's College).

Cambridge.

University Library (Mr. F. Jenkinson).

Corpus College (Mr. C. W. Moule).

Cambridge (continued).

Trinity College (the Vice-Master). St. John's College (Mr. Bass Mullinger).

Magdalen College (Professor Newton).

Manchester.

John Rylands Library (Mr. H. Guppy).

Peterborough Cathedral.

The late Dean Ingram and Canon Alderson.

York Minster.

Canon Watson.

Salisbury and Exeter Cathedrals.

The Canons in residence.

Ireland.

Mr. E.R. McClintock Dix, of Dublin.

Since 1893, when my last contribution to this subject was published, many important libraries and parcels of books, notably the Ashburnham, have come into the market, and I may affirm that all have paid me toll.

A speciality of the heavy and varied instalment here offered is the appreciable number of hitherto undiscovered works for the first time catalogued from fragments more or less sufficiently adequate to the formation of a knowledge of the entire volume or tract.

The impression has been most strictly limited to ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY COPIES.

W. C. HAZLITT.

Barnes Common, May, 1903.

The Morall Fabillis of Esope the Phrygian. . . . 4°, 1570.

The Britwell copy may be the same, which occurs in the Auction Catalogue of Sir Andrew Balfour, M.D., sold at Edinburgh in 1698. This Scotish version is contained in Bannatyne's MS, 1568, part V.

AFRICA.

Strange Newes out of Affrick.

A work in defence of the stage, written, and possibly or prohably printed, before 1579, as It is cited in Gosson's Ephemerides of Phialo, published in that year. It purports to have been written by a Doctor on the proverb, "Africa semper aliquid oportet nort."

AGRIPPA, CORNELIUS HENRY, born at Cologne in 1486.

The Commendation of Matrimony. . . . 1545.

There is an earlier version by John Harington, printed by John Scotin St. Paul's Churchyard, 12°, 1528. A copy is in the Huth library. This work is said to have been originally written in 1520 in compliment to Margaret of Austria.

The Vanity of Arts and Sciences.
London, Printed by R. Everingham for R. Bentley . . and Dan. Brown. . . 1694.
8°, A—Aa in eights and the title.

AINSWORTH, HENRY.

An Arrow against Idolatry. Taken out of the Quiver of the Lord of Hosts. By Henry Ainsworth. [Quot.from Pailm 119, 31.] Nova Belgia, Printed 1640. 8°, A—H 7 in eights. B M.

The imprint is singularly curious, since it has not the aspect of being a fictitious or fanciful one. The book seems to have been printed out of England. yet it hardly presents the appearance of continental origin. There are numerous misprints indicating carelessness or inexperience. The present separate edition was posthumous, Ainsworth having died at Amsterdam in 1622-2. Most or all of his works were published there with his name and that of the printer. Nova Belgia may be rendered New Netherlands, and New York was known as New Amsterdam under its Dutch masters from about 1614. When this volume appeared, no printing is likely to have existed outside a central locality. There is no reason why the work should not have been set up at New York by some admirer of Ainsworth in the New World-perhaps one of his friends and disciples in Amsterdam who had emigrated. Somewhat in the same way we possess an isolated example of printing at Cambridge, N.E., and in the same year, not only without a printer's name, but without an indication of the place.

AITZEMA, LION.

Notable Revolutions; Beeing A true Relation of what hap ned in the United Provinces of the Netherlands In the years MDCL and MDCLI. Somwhat before and after the Death of the late Prince of Orange. According to the Dutch copie collected and published at the Haghe 1651. . . London, Printed by William Du-gard, by the Appointment of the Council of State, Anno 1653. Folio. Title and preface, 2 leaves: (a)—(e 2) in fours. B—4 U 2 in fours.

Anno. M.D.XLVII. Per me J. B. 8°, a, 4 ll: A-B 7 in eights.

In this very rare little treatise the author gives a summary of the doctrine held by those of the " new dearning," as they were called, more especially so far as regards the two Sacraments. The tract has been attributed to Bp. Bale, but the language is too temperate, and the statement of doctrine too moderate, for it to be likely that it proceeded from bis pen. Being put forth when Henry VIII.'s Six Articles were in force, it is not surprising that the writer concealed his name, and that few copies of the book escaped destruction -F. S. Ellis's Cata-

Very Sm. 8°, A.—Mm in twelves: Concordance, by John Downame, A.—E in twelves. The title is an architectural compartment, and the three divisions of the volume have separate titles.

The copy before me, sold in a bundle at Sotheby's in 1901, has on the fly-leaf the coeval mark of price -7/. It is in the original blue morocco binding excellently preserved and enclosed, apparently from the date of publication, in a leathern case. This is, it seems to me, the earliest English pocket Bible, and precedes the Pearl Bible, printed at Cambridge, by two years; the type is remarkably small and equally clear, and we have here the model, which suggested to the University printer his later undertaking.

Editions of the Scriptures printed by the Society of Stationers are as rare as those of the Psaims are the reverse. But this was the Cromwell regime.

Imprinted at London by Iohn Beale. 1618.

Sotheby's, Nov. 29, 1897, No. 344, old calf, with the Dering arms in gold on sides, £62. This copy, as well as that at Oxford, has on A 4 y* a catchword The, to which nothing on B 1 (the next leaf) corresponds; possibly some matter was suppressed. I am informed by Mr. F. Madan that the Bodleian copy may have been in the library ever since the date of publication. There is a second copy there slightly damaged, and a third containing only the Remains after Death.

On L 3 v° ocenrs a table of Errata, applying only to the matter following sign. B 1. The author states that the errors were occasioned by his absence from the press in consequence of some hart or injury; but he promises to amend the faults in the next impression.

Britains Bath. 1625.

This work is mentioned in a marginal note to the dedication of the Survey of History, 1638, and seems to have been an elegy on the death of James I., accompanied by one on that of the Earl of Sonthampton. Braithwaite refers to this work as "extant," but does not say that it was printed.

The Huntsmans Raunge.

This appears to be the book mentioned as Pueriles in Lyly's Pappe with an Hatchet. Brinsley, perhaps, as in other cases, and in common with others, as we see, after him, only re-edited it. The edition of 1617, the earliest which I have so far seen, may be that mentioned in the inventory of the stock of John Foster of York, 1616 (Davies, York Press, 1868, p. 360), as books were sometimes dated forward.

The Introduction to the true understanding of the whole Arte of Expedition in teaching to write. Intermixed with rare discourses of other matters, to shew the possibilitie of skill in teaching, and probabilitie of successe in learning,

Which tending all to one end, doe serve for two vses

1. If Authors doe excell others in their owne Artes, why may not this Author excell others in his Arte?

2. For removing a vulgare opinion against his native countrey of Scotland, he sheweth that it hath moe excellent Prerogatives than any other Kingdome.

Where-by it will rather follow, that a Scotchman is so much the more able to prosecute whatsoever hee vndertaketh, and therefore so much the more to be respected, by how so much more he is more ingenious than one of another nation. Anno Dom. 1638. 4°. A, 2 ll: B—F 2 in fours. Dedicated to Charles, Prince of Wales,

The Pilgrim's Progress. 1678. 8° With a portrait by R. White (?), in which the City in the background is described as Vanity instead of Destruction, an alteration made for the third, if not for the second,

The impression of the print in the copy sold at Sotheby's rooms, May 9, 1901, for the totally unjustified price of £1475, though in indifferent state, was remarkably fine and clear, and does not seem to have been employed before. The presence of a portrait in the edition was a new bibliographical revelation, as all the other known copies are without it; but the defective condition of this one only shews the liability to disappearance in the case of so popular a book. In the copy belonging to the British Museum the leaf before title is a blank composed of the same paper, Mr. Wilson informs me, as the rest of the book, so that the print may not have been added, till a portion of the edition was sold.

DANIEL, SAMUEL.

Works in Poetry . . . 1623.

In a sale at Sotheby's, May 26, 1893, No. 595, occurred a copy of this volume with a dedication "To the Right Noble Lady, the Lady Marie, Countesse Dowager of Pembrooke," from the 4° of 1609, instead of the right one by John Daniel.

Drammaticke Poems. Written by Samvell Daniell Esquire, one of the Groomes of the most Honorable Prive Chamber to Queene Anne. Actas prima . . . London, Printed by T. Cotes, for Iohn Waterson, at the signe of the Crowne in Pauls Churchyard. 1635. 4°.

A reissue of the dramas, from the unsold stock of 1623. Hodgson's, June 29, 1900, No. 1178, £4. 15s. Believed to be the only copy known, and to be identical with that mentioned in the Handbook, 1867, which was once Halliwell's.

Delia. / Containing / certaine Son / nets: with the / complaynt of Ro- / samond. / Ætas prima ca | nat Veneres postre- | ma tumul- | tus. | 1592. | At London, | Printed by J. C. for S. | Watersonne. | 4º. Title, 1 leaf: B, 2 ll: C—F in fours: G, 2 ll: H, 3 ll: with the separate title to Rosamond on H 3 vo: I-N 2 in fours. Bodleian (Tanner).

The title is in an architectural compartment, and appears to have been inserted in the Tanner copy, which has no other preliminaries.

Delia. / Contayning certayne / Sonnets: with the / complaint of / Rosamond. / Ætas prima canat Veneres | postrema tumultus. | At London, | Printed by I. C. for Si- | mon Waterson, dwelling in / Paules Church-yard at / the signe of the Crowne. / 1592. / A, 2 ll : B-M in fours. Malone Coll.

A short list of Errata is on the back of the title. Dedicated to Mary, Countess of Pembroke. The marks above indicate the linear arrangement. Weighing the evidence collected by Collier (Bibl. Cat. i. 170-1), I have ventured to come to a different conclusion from that eminent antiquary as to the sequence of the impressions of Delia (with Rosamond) in 1592. I incline to the opinion that the Malone copy is the earliest both of the Delia and the Rosamond, because the 23 stanzas added to the latter are retained in the reprints made during Daniel's life, and were therefore arguably added to the 4° in the Devonshire collection rather than withdrawn from the Bodleian one, formerly Malone's. I would place the three issues of the year thus:-

1. Malone copy.

2. Devonshire copy, with 50 Sonnets and the title in an arabesque compartment. 3. Third 4°, with title in an architectural compartment, and 54 Sonnets.

The character of the corrections in No. 3 bespeaks it later than No. 2.

Daniel not improbably borrowed the name Delia from Tibullus. But the Delie of the French poet Maurice Scave had appeared at Lyons, 8°, 1544.

The above description occurs on the top of A 1 of the first gathering. The poems are in Lutin and French, and relate to the episode of Mary of Scotland, executed in 1587. The copy employed has some corrections in a coeval hand. It was sold in November, 1886, and again in 1897.

This extremely rare book is described as follows in the Libri Catalogue, 1859. "This work has totally escaped the notice of bibliographers, and was probably never published, as there is no titlepage. It was probably printed in 1857 or 1588, as the various poems relate enti-ely to the execution of Mary Queen of Scots. The author, who is extremely bitter against Queen Elizabeth, affixes to several of the poems various initials."—Note in Sotheby's Catalogue, May 14, 1897.

At London, Printed by I. R. for Iohn Flasket, and are to be sold in Paules Churchyard, at the signe of the Beare. 1600. 4°, 100 leaves or A.—Bb in fours, title on A 2. Br Museum (Corser's copy), Bodleian (Malone's and Crynes's books, both complete), and Locker Coll. (2 copies, one wanting the last leaf.)

The Museum copy is also deficient of the last leaf. Dr. Webster, in 1690. Major Pearson, in 1788, probably the Harleian copy, and extremely tall and fine, £5. 10s., resold Steevens, in 1800, £11, 15s., bought by Malone. Softenby's (Wolfreston), 1856, unbound and wanting last leaf, £31, resold Corser, £42, bought for the British Museum. In the Osterley Park sale, 1885, a copy much stained, but complete, occurred; it is, I believe, one of the copies now in Locker Coll. Mr. Coffier cites, and perhaps possessed, another wanting five leaves, The other Locker one was in B. M. Pickering; Catalogue for 1857 at £18. 18s., having been bought by him in a sale for £1. Whether any of the above are identical with the Harleian, is uncortain, as it is whether that and Dr. Webster's were the same.

To the Great Turk, And His King at Argiers. Together with A Postscript of George Pattison's taking the Turks, and setting them on their own Shoar. London, Printed for Ben. Clark, in George-yard, in Lumbard-street, 1680. 4°, A—C in fours, C 4 blank.

The postscript is by Lurting, who addresses at the conclusion from "Liverpoole, the 30 of the fifth month, 1680"—perhaps the earliest citation of the city in this way; in 1680 it was little more than a collection of hovels on a sandbank. There is an account of it, as it appeared in 1704, which represents it as still very humble and obscure.

At the end of Lurting's portion is this passage: "When we came home to England, the King came to the Vessels side, and enquired an Account, the which the Master gave him."

The earliest dwellings in Liverpool were clustered about St. Nicholas's Church, which was then nearer to the water than it now is.

B⁴: C⁴: D⁶[?] St. John's College, Oxford
(last leaf wanting).

This copy, the only one known, ends imperfectly on D S, D 6 having had probably the conclusion and the colophon. In the Handbook, 1887, I gave the latter at second-hand—I forget from what source. The Oxford copy, formerly belonging to Nathaniel Crynes, may have once had the final leaf. No copy appears ever to have been sold by auction.

Sotheby's, Feb. 6, 1893, No. 358, a copy with MSS. notes, chiefly in Latin, ascribed to Milton,

. A most interesting copy of this work, the numerous neatly written manuscript notes in the margin of which are ascribed to John Milton,
They are generally in Latin, but some are in English. Milton's "Areopagitica" appeared two years after Sir Richard Baker's work, "PAllegro" and "il Penseroso" in 1645, "Tenure of Kings," and "Eikonoklastes" in 1649, in which year Milton became Latin Secretary to Oliver Cromwell. That Milton's knowledge of Tacitus was comprehensive and exact is evidenced by a passage in the Defence of the People of England against Salmaslus (1654), where he says "You cite this passage as if Tacitus had said it himself . . . you leave out nothing that you could find in a Baker's or Barber's shop. . . . If you had read Tacitus and not transcribed some loose quotations out of him. . . . "-Note in Cat.

Sotheby's, March 4, 1899, No. 1814, perfect, but wormed, £26. A second, wanting title and Calendar, and last leaf, and having the leaf De laude, &c., defective, was in Ashburnham (Dec. 6, 1897, No. 2055), and brought £20.

On the last leaf of the former copy in the sell of the woodcut device occurred the probably coeval autograph of Richard Laborn. This liturgy in a complete state is rare to excess, and is peculiarly interesting and remarkable as being for the two uses of Sallsbury and York. Service books for the latter are known to be infinitely more uncommon than those for Salisbury.

The Preface is dated here also from Dublin, 4 March, 1628[-9]. The inscription to Lord Holland is as follows: "To the Right Honorable Henry Lord Rich of Kensington, Earle of Holland, Captaine of His Mairie Gward, and Gentleman of the Bed-Chamber, Chancellor of the Vulversitie of Cambridge, Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garler, One of His Malesties Most Honorable Privie-Covneel: And Great Example of Trve Honorr and Chivalrie: Fra: Quarles Presents and dedicates His Argalox and Parthenia?

On the last page after Finis occurs a heading: Hos ego versiculos, with two copies of verses, one beginning: "Like to the damaske Rose you see," and the second called The Authors Dreame. Both are subscribed Fr. Qu., and seem to have been added as an afterthought. The date 1632 appears to have been erased after the concluding word of the Imprint.

Argalvs and Parthenia. . . London Printed for Iohn Marriott. . . 1632. 4° , A—V in fours + engraved title. B.M.

The date is imperfectly erased in this copy, which collates with the last, but is entirely distinct, the matter at the end here occupying nearly two pages in larger type. V 4 v° is blank.

Alexi-Cacvs. Spirit of Salt of the World, which vulgarly prepair'd is call'd The Spirit of Salt. Or The transcendent Virtue of the true Spirit of Salt Long look'd for, And now Philosophically prepared and purified.

By Constantine Rhodocanaces, Grecian of the Isl of Chios, and one of his Majesty's Chymists, who is the sole authour and inventor of this Spirit. Living in London, next door to the Three Kings Inne in Southampton Buildings, near the King's Gate in Holborn. . . This fifth Edition is enlarged with some new Testimonies, Advertisements and rare Medicaments. By His Majesties Special Direction and Allowance. London, Printed by I.B. in the Year, 1667. 4°, A—D in fours. B.M.

He is presumably the "one Constantine, a Grecian," whom Mr. Jesse (London, 1871, iii., 321) takes to have been the founder of the Grecian Coffee house in Devereux Court, Strand. At p, 21 of edit, 1667 occurs a list of persons, who had the specific on sale, and the author says: "This Spirit is to be had in several Glasses sealed with the Rose and Eagle, with 3 Greek Letters, K. P. X. And about the Seal, Verus Spiritus Salis."

This Rhodocanakis, ancestor of Prince Rhodocanakis of Manchester, is said to have made £30,000 out of the introduction of muriatic acid as an antidote for the Plague. One of this family, who claimed to be descended from the imperial line at Constantinople, used, it was mentioned to me by Dr. Garnett of the British Museum, to write with purple link,

, Inglese. SHAKERLY.

La Gvida Romana Per tutti i Forestieri che vegono per videre le antichita di Roma, a vna per vna in bellissima forma & breuita. [Col.] Stampata in Roma per Antonio Blado Stāpator Cam. l'anno M. D. LXII. 8º.

This curious guide or handbook for travellers in Rome forms an appendix to one of the numerous editions of Le Cose Maravigliose di Roma; it commences on E 4 with the title above given, and continues to the end, forming 16 leaves or E, 4; F, 8: G, 4. There is a prefatory address to the readers, in which the author expresses no hope of praise or reward; he speaks of "nostri Inglesi"; and subscribes himself "Scha Kerlay Inglese." A certain Peter Shakerly published at London an English version of Ecclesiastes. See Mr. W. M. Voynich's Eighth List, 1902, No. 3184.

SHAKESPEAR, WILLIAM.

Venvs and Adonis. . . . London, Printed by J. H. and are to be sold by Francis Coules in the Old Baily without Newgate. 1630. Sm. 8°, A—D 4 in eights, D 4 blank. Bodleian.

Passionate Pilgrim. . . . 1599.

On the flyleaf facing title occurs at top: "Tho: Martin. Anne Shute," and below, in a different hand, apparently of 1740; "Shakespeare was a Wool-comber," &c. At the end, referring to the Venue and Adonis, 1820, bound up with the P.P., is written: "Not quite perfect, see 4 or 5 leaves back. So it cost me but 3 Halfpence." In the top right-hand corner of the same leaf is: "W. B," probably the writer and owner of 1740. A small portion of a leaf of the V. and A. is torn off.

The Passionate Pilgrime. Or Certaine Amorous Sonnets, betweene Venus and Adonis, newly corrected and augmented. By W. Shakespere. The third Edition. Where-vnto is newly added two Loue-Epistles, the first from Paris to Hellen, and Hellens answere backe againe to Paris. Printed by W. Iaggard. 1612. Sm. 8°, A—H in eights, A 1 and H 8 apparently blank. Bodteian (Malone).

The title-page is slightly mutilated. There is no preliminary matter. This volume appears to have been acquired by Malone in 17s5. The portion by T. Heywood begins on D 5 and continues to the end. On C 3 occurs a new title: Sonnets To sundry notes of Musicke, At London Printed by W. Iaggard. 1612.

[Another title-page.] The Passionate Pilgrime. Or Certaine Amorous Sonnets. Printed by W. Iaggard. 1612.

Bound up with the Malone copy of the other issue. No more is known. The name of Shake-spear does not occur here.

Folio, a—m in eights, m 8 probably occupied by a device or other woodcut, but deficient in both the known copies. With numerous fine woodcuts borrowed from various sources. Duke of Devonshire (the Roxburgh copy) and Spencer-Rylands Coll. (very imperfect).

Probably from the press of Verard, or printed for him. The translator was a Scot. The type is very peculiar.

Reproduced in photographic facsimile, with a bibliographical and critical introduction and a reprint of Pynson's edition of 1506, by H. O. Sommer, royal 8°, 1892. It seems to be likely that the translator was the same Scot, who executed the version printed by Verard at Paris in 1503 of the Ars Moriendi.

Here begynneth the Kalender of Shepardes. This is over a page-woodcut. At the end occurs:] Imprynted in Pooles chyrch yarde at the signe of the thre [kinges by Julyan N]otary the yere of our lorde a. M. ccccc. & . . . Folio, A—N in eights. Huth Coll., Locker Coll., and Bodleian (all imperfect).

No copy having the complete colophon is known. Mr. Sommer, in his admirable reproduction of the editio princeps of 1503, has assigned a reasonable ground for ascribing this edition to 1518 or there-

Epigrams. . . . 1651.

The engraved title to this volume contains in the lower compartment what is evidently intended for a portrait of the author, seated in a chair, handing the Muse of Poetry his volume, and receiving from her a garland. The book is interesting from its notices of writers, of the author and his connections, and of other persons.

Mercurius Elenticus.

Sheppard, in his Poems, 1651, p. 150, sign. M 3, has some verses, which intimate that he was committed to prison for writing this production, of which I have not seen a copy. Possibly it was suppressed, unless it is identical with Momus Elenticus, a poem inserted in some copies of Robert Fletcher's Martial, 1656.

SHERINGHAM, ROBERT, of Caius & Gonvill Coll., Cambridge.

Lady Montague was the daughter of Lord Dacre (of the North or of Gillesland) by the daughter of the celebrated Talbot, Earl of Shrewsbury. She was born at Naworth Castle, Cumberland, in 1538. She died at Battle, in Sussex, in 1608, and was buried at Midhurst.

At sign. C 2 ro occurs the following passage: ". . . whiles she liued a mayd of honour in the Court, on a tyme King Philip who had maryed Queene Mary, youthfully opened a window; where by chance she was washing her face, and sportingly putting in his arme, which some other would perhaps have taken as a great honour, and rejoyced therat, she knowled that the condition of virgins was not vnlike vnto flowers, which with the least touch doe loose of their beauty, having more regard of her owne purity, then of the Kings Maiesty, she tooke a staffe lying by, and strongly stroke the King on the arme. Which fact the prudet King did not only take without offence, but it was the increase of her honour and esteeme. Alusworth, in his Cardinal Pole, has suggested that Philip was addicted to gallantries with the ladies of the Court. TESTAMENT, THE NEW.

In 1527 Archbishp Warham bought up all the copies he could procure of Tyndale's work, and appears to have been assisted in defraying the cost by other prelates (see Ellis's Orig. Letters, 3rd S., ii. 86-7). In 1529, Bishop Tunstali did the same in respect to a later edition or later editions during his stay at Antwerp-probably for this purpose. Warham laid out at least £66 9s. 4d., which represents a very large number of copies. The destruction must have been almost exhaustive. Of the original, suppressed by Warham, we learn that 3000 copies were printed; it is the one probahly meant by Edward Lee in his Letters to Wolsey (Ellis's O. L. 3rd S., ii, 71-2). The Grenville fragment may be the same as is mentioned in Nichois's Literary Illustr., v., 363, as having once belonged to Francis Peck. Of the second edition, Worms, 1525-6, small 8°, the Harieian copy, wanting only the title, cost Lord Oxford £21; It is valued in Osborne's Catalogue at 15s.

WEBSTER, JOHN.

The White Divel. . . . 1612.

The dramatization of the story of Vittoria Accoramboni, here corrupted into Corombona, does a serious violence to fact and justice. The heroine of the play was one of the daughters of a gentlema of Gubblo, who eventually removed, for the sake of advancing his large family, to Rome. Vittoria had no farther connection with Venice than that she met with her tragic death at Padua in the Venetian territories, nor was she a courtezan.

BALDWIN, WILLIAM.

Beware the Cat. . . . 1561, 1570, 1584. In the dedication to John Yung, prefixed to the impression of 1584, Baldwin refers to this work as a reduction to book-form of one of the stories related at Court last Christmas, by Master Streamer, or Stremer, who appears to have been the author of a play called Æsop's Crow, which the King's Players are said, in the Argument before this same publication (Beware the Cat), to be rehearsing. We are unacquainted even with the edition of the latter dated 1561; it exists solely, I believe, on the authority of Ritson; but it seems clear that there were issues, or an issue, in the reign of Edward VI., if not of Henry VIII., when George Ferrers was Master of the King's Majesty's Pastimes, as Baldwin, in the Argument, designates

BERKLEY OR BARCLAY, SIR WILLIAM, Governor of Virginia.
The Lost Lady. A Tragy Comedy. Imprinted at London by Jo. Okes for John Colby, and are to be sold at his Shop, at the Signe of the Holy Lambe on Ludgate hill. 1639. Folio, B-N, 2 leaves each: O, 3 leaves (O 4 probably blank) + title page.

Reprinted in Hazlitt's Dodsley, xii. The original text is very inaccurate, probably from the absence of the author abroad. Dodsley, who included the piece in his first edition, seems to have had the use of a copy, now before me, with numerous corrections by Sir Thomas Hanmer, the Shakespearian scholar. But he has not carried them out in all cases.

A Perfect Description of Virginia: being, A full and true Relation of the present State of the Plantation, their Health, Peace, and Plenty: the number of people, with their abundance of Cattell, Fowl, Fish, &c. with severall sorts of rich and good Commodities, which may there be had, either Naturally, or by Art and Labour. Thus mentioned in Dibdin's Ames, iii., 105, on the authority of Baker's interleaved Maunsell, as from the press of John Rastell. An edition printed by Robert Redman, 4°, 1528, has been cited by Lowndes. It is to be remarked that in 1528 John Skot printed a translation of H. C. Agrippa's Commendation of Matrimony, by John Harington. I have not found whether this person was related to the other.

Jack the Cobler's Caution to His Country-Men. London, Printed for T. S. in the Year, 1682. A folio leaf.

JACOBUS DE VORAGINE

The Golden Legend. . . . Folio. Two cols. Woodcuts.

Sotheby's, July, 1895. Title and two last leaves wanting, green morocco, g.e. Sold with all faulte, £28. This copy commenced, according to the Catalogue, with the Life of Adam on fol. I. [? II.] and proceeded to fol. LIII.; then occurred The Advent of Our Lord, beginning on folio primo, and finishing on fol. CCCLXXXII. There were 46 lines to a full column. The book was misascribed by the auctioneer to the press of W. de Worde at Westminster. A second copy in old calf, deficient of 17 leaves, including title and end, appeared in Sotheran & Co.'s catalogue for December, 1902. A third, also imperfect, is in the British Museum. All these copies belong to some Impression about 1515-25, hitherto unidentified; and it seems to be an open question whether it was one issued by De Worde or by Peter Treveris in Southwark, as there was clearly no exclusive copyright in the work. It might be even later than 1527, and a production of Robert Redman, who reprinted many of Pynson's publications.

A complete copy of the present issue should apparently contain: a—z in eights: three sheets of eight irregularly signed; aa—yy in eights. The Table begins on follo il, after a title-leaf. z 8 is prely follo clxxxiv, but is misprinted clxxill. aa begins on follo ceix. The book concludes with the Life of St. Eraxmest, which, in the copies of 1855 and that in the hands of Sotheran & Co., breaks off imperfection.

SHAKESPEAR

В

W. CAREW HAZLITT.

Second Edition, Revised. With Important Additions.

The present volume is probably entitled, whatever its individual merits and value may be considered to be, to the credit of being wholly on new and independent lines; and after all the researches and conclusions of the editors and critics, it aims at placing in a fresh and very different light many of the most important features in the biography and literary history of the Poet. The book is the result of a considerable amount of labour and thought, and owes a share of its claim to attention to the wide and varied reading and studies of the author, and to his lengthened bibliographical experience. It deals with all the difficult and perplexing problems which have arisen, and exist, in connection with the life and productions of Shakespear, the first knowledge of London, the history of the Sonnets, the relations between Shakespear and Bacon, those between the former and his family, the deer-stealing affair, and the final removal to London; and it unavoidably conflicts at several points with the statements and opinions of other workers in this field. The new Essay, which is not a regular Biography, but rather a Biographical Excursion, seeks to place the private and professional career of our national Poet on a new footing, in considerable measure by the collation of scattered facts and allusions, and the presentment of many circumstances in fresh points of view.

The keen and enduring interest in all that concerns Shakespear, even to the most trivial and indirect particulars, throughout the world, ought to secure for the present publication an indulgent, if not a favourable, acceptance.
